

Our commitment to the Ecuadorian people goes as far as providing care for the elderly for about 500 senior citizens at our institutions.

Through our Homes: Corazón de Jesús in Guayaquil and San Pedro in Alausí, we provide the care of distinguished professionals and appropriate infrastructure in a cozy and safe environment where we offer well-being and joy to elderly men and women. We also encourage family bonds with their loved ones so that they can enjoy this last stage of their lives.

Our nursing homes provide shelter for homeless and abandoned seniors, who are often neglected by their relatives. Here, we give them all the attention and love they deserve and need to live pleasantly through the final stages in their life.

Our nursing homes offer many services to their residents. They are cared for and supported day by day, always receiving affection they cannot receive from their families. But besides food and shelter, we provide medical care, leisure activities and physical therapy, to improve their quality of life.

Below you will find more detailed information on the social work we do for senior citizens, which shows that our services reach people in every stage of life.
